While the Tufts women's cross country team did not qualify for nationals, Plainfield's Meghan Davis managed to qualify as an individual.

The Mohawk Trail alum is running for the Jumbos as a graduate student and finished in 16th at the NCAA East Regional last weekend, qualifying for the NCAA Div. III Cross Country Championships. The meet is scheduled for Saturday in Newville, Penn.

Davis was injured last season but in 2021 helped Tufts place ninth at nationals and helped the Jumbos earn an eighth-place showing in 2019.
